MEDIA ALERT

Arcus Hosts 2nd Apprentice Program Auditions Today

Despite the weakened economy, Arcus prepares to hire its second round of talent in a fun and competitive format

HARRISBURG, Pa. (May 19, 2009) – Arcus, an internationally recognized talent management and consulting solutions company, announced today that it is embarking on its second Apprentice Program to find and hire apprentices to take part in a three-month intensive training program. Candidates will participate in a fun and competitive interview format today, including interaction with the Arcus team, speed interviewing and team exercises, with the ultimate goal of landing a meeting in the Board Room.

Arcus has developed the Arcus Apprentice Program to train and educate energetic professionals. In addition to a rigorous, yet challenging and highly-rewarding on-the-job training program, each Apprentice will have a unique opportunity to learn the staffing industry, polish his/her sales and communications skills, and compete with fellow apprentices to earn a coveted spot on the Arcus sales and recruiting team. Not only will he/she be mentored and learn the tricks of our trade, but will interact with influential members of the community, complete projects and activities as if working for The Donald, and ultimately, build a network and tool box of skills, and play a significant role in our company's international presence. And, yes, successful Apprentice candidates will receive a starting annual salary of $35K and benefits.

When: Apprentice Auditions are being held today.
