Local Company Hosts Block Party to Give Back to the Community

International Talent Management Firm Promotes the Importance of Giving Blood

HARRISBURG, Pa. (June 8, 2009) –Arcus, an international provider of talent management and consulting solutions, is hosting a block party in support of their neighbor, the Central Pennsylvania Blood Bank (CPBB). Every 8 weeks Arcus holds a Blood Drive within their organization, encouraging coworkers to donate. This time Arcus is spreading the word throughout the surrounding business community to help in the cause. Tons of festivities will be onsite during the event including raffle prizes, games, fabulous cookout food and networking. The CPBB Bloodmobile will be readily available and on hand for everyone to give back and participate in the blood drive.

This is Arcus's first Block Party in the new community since moving to the new location on Adams Drive in Hummelstown one year ago. The dozen nearby companies participating are Drayer, B&W, Patio Enclosures, Storage Tek, Transcore, Worknet, Unifirst, United Water, Mark Restoration, CPBB and Arcus. Over 100 people are expected, including many local CEOs and COOs.

Every 2 seconds, someone needs blood and 1 out of every 5 people entering the hospital needs to receive blood for one reason or another. Through the Arcus Gives Back program, Arcus hopes to help alleviate the blood shortage. One donation can save 3 lives and that gives us hope that we really can make a difference. For every donation made at the Block Party Blood Drive, Arcus is displaying a large red people paper chain on the side of the Arcus Headquarters.

"The CPBB supplies 100% of the blood to more than 13 hospitals in our area. If one donation can save three lives...imagine what our joint efforts can do!" said R. Douglas Firestone, President and CEO of Arcus.
